Next of Patriotic Thinking "There has never been a time when there was greater need of coolheaded, patriotic thinking and action than today. That there is great unrest throughout the country we know. Demagogues are laking full advantance of this, for discontent is the bread of life to them. We should beware of the demagogue, who has no real desire to better conditions but wants them to continue and even grow worse for his own political roll. On the other hand, mere among the mistake. It is our duly if we would serve our country to examine into the causes of the unrest and insofar as remedies can be found to apply them.

"All good citizens, should, however, first agree that we need no revolution, peaceful or otherwise, to remedy existing wrongs. The structure of this government, established 144 years ago, it sound, and we should never permit its foundations to be undermined.

The telegram asked for an early reply to, one sent by Mr. Christensen from Denver last week, wherein he asked the nominees of the democratic and republican parties to join him in pressing for Dobs' release.

"Only July 20. It elegraphed to your and Senator Harding a request that you and he join with me in urging the president to release Eugene V. I can only assume from what he says that, while he was in favor of freedom of speech for the republican senators who attacked, investigated and ridiculed, if they did not actually, obstruct, the government's prosecution of the war in 1917-18, he is unwilling to concede the socialists the constitutional right of free speech and political criticism in war time. I take it the republican candidate is content to suffer the socialist candidate to remain, in prison and the socialist party, which has polled nearly a million votes in a unational election, to pursue the campaign minus its unanimously chosen standard bearer and paramount spokesman, "Still, I have not lost hope of bringing the president to see the tyranny involved in the continued imprisonment of Debs, or of convincts with that Americans of all parties

George for "Surrendering."

London, Inly 28—The decision reached by Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George at their Boulogne conference yeaterday to stand by the ovigual plan for a peace conference with the Russian soviet and that the London conference which the soviets demanded could not take place unless bolishevik! revised their present attitude and agreed to discuss peace with Poland with all qualified representatives of Russia and the border states in attendance, received no enthusiastic endorsement by the London press. By the anti-bolshevik papers it is roundly denounced, one of them saving it "will bring nearer that diplomatic recognition of the soviet government which we especially detest and dread."

Lloyd George Criticised
Premier Lloyd George, whom these papers regard as anxions to establish relations with the soviet, is sharply criticized, as one of them puts it, "for surrendering to the bolisheviki and creating by his policy a very serious situation." The London Times declares the matter is "too grave for irrevocable decision behind closed doors," and maintains that it must be submitted to the parliaments of the allies. The paper sympathizes with the French view that America must have a voice in the question, implying its belief that America would repudiate an agreement tused on the bolshevik conditions.

HARDING FAVORS, LENROOT ADDRESSES

ident Expresses Views on League of Nations.

HARDING FAVORS

Mariou, Ohio, July 28—Senator Harding would it elected president favor the revision of the Treaty of Versailles so that reservations to the league of nations desired not only by the United States but by other nations might be agreed upon. Indeed, he thinks the leovenant ought to be revised.

tions might be direct to be revised.

In explaining his views to the writer, the republican candidate repudiated the inference that he would eliminate the entire treaty of Versaliles including the covenant from consideration. He declared that of course the original structure would be used as a basis for remodeling and revision. He was inclined to be lieve the nations of Europe would be as glad to be rid of article ten-as would the United States under a republican administration; but fundamentally Mr. Harding means to approach the other nations of the world and negotiate an understanding that preserves the independence and sovereignty of the United States and at the same time asks for no privilage that America, on her part, is not willing to grant to other nations.

No Definite Program

Air. Harding does not intend to the limself up to a definite program either now or if he is elected. The world situation is changing so rapidly that he believes it both unnecessary and superfluous to churt a course now that may be entirely altered by the time a new president of the United States is inaugurated.

For the present Senator Harding course now that may be control tored by the time a new president of the United States is inaugurated.

For the present Senator Harding is concerned with the division in the ranks of republicism which grew out of the fight in the senate between "bitter-enders" like Senators Johnson and Borah and the "mild-reservationists" and the Lodge reservationists. Senator Harding tried in his speech of aceptance to avoid the details of a program, rather being content to state a broad policy of preserved nationality on the one hand with assured keeping of the Amerivan conscience for ourselves which, he believes, inspired all the opposition in the senate, and, on the other hand, "to assure the world of American readiness to do our part in promoting international peace through justice rather than force."

moting international peaks through justice rather than force."

Time May Come
The time may come when with certain safeguards and amendments accepted by Europe that "the" loague of nations may satisfy all the requirements set forth in the platform proposal of "a" league of nations.

form proposal of "a" league of nations.

Senator Harding would find it necessary it elected to deal concretely with the Treaty of Versallies as all but four nations—Russia, Turkey, Mexico and the United States—are either parties to the treaty or members of the present league of nations. To say now that he will stand on the Lodge reservations would be to commit himself, to a program of reservation upon the power of a president to conduct foreign policy which might prove awkward for even a hopublican president. The original set of Lodge reservations voted on in November 1919, were much less difficult than those adopted in the following spring: In the effort to observation, the power of Woodrow Wilson, some of the senators forgot for the moment that a republican president might some day be charged with the responsibility of foreign policy and would find himself powerless especially if congress were not in session.

At Heart He Wants Changes.

At Heart He Wants Changes.
Now at heart Senator Harding uld be found demanding changes the league covenant similar to so which he voted for in the sension which he voted for in the sension. those which he voted for in the senate, and he feels strongly that article 10 in its present form can be eliminated without breaking the heart of Europe. Morever, he doesn't auticipate serious objections to the equalization of voting power in the assembly of the league.

Details are not being preached at this time. The important thing is that ultimately the treaty of Versalies would be the basis for the negotiations of the new understanding and les would be the basis for the legot-ations of the new understanding and relationship with Europe to which Mr. Harding referred in his speech of acceptance. It will be noted also that Gov. Collidge, the republican can-didate for vice president shows the way toward the ratification of the tions. This speach must have been made with the knowledge and approval of the republican candidate for the presidency.

Has Constructive Substitute
Senator Johnson's destructive criticism has been heeded, but Senator Harding plainly intends to offer a constructive substitute and fulfill the pledge to civilization which America made during the war—to participate in a serious effort to form a concert of nations to maintain the peace of the world.

Berlin.—More than 90 per cent of the neople of Germany are trying to exist, according to a Berlin statisticlan, on incomes which do not equal the present minimum cost, of living. The mark today, he reckons, has a purchasing value equal to only about one-twelfth that of pre-war times. He shows that in 1914 the minimum cost of rental, food, clothing and other necessaries for a man, ing and other necessaries for a man, wife and two children was 1,500 marks a year. Now this minimum cost is estimated at 19,300 marks.

grown to be the greatest nation on earth. The average American, whether he be farmer, laborer, merchant, or whatever his vocation may he, has higher standards of life, has better educational facilities for his better educational facilities for his children, than the average citizen of any other nation on earth, and this is especially true of Wisconsin. I have been traveling through southern Wisconsin this week and have marveiled at what I saw. I wish every farmer who feels discontented would travel into other states, as I have, compare agricultural conditions with his own, and he would return thanking God that he lived in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Ideals "Wisconsin of all states should be "Wisconsin of all states should be the last to be led away by false doctrines, the last to depart from established principles of government which have made possible the Wisconsin we have today. Our population is made up of many different nationalities. A very large percentage were either from neross the sea or their parents were, as my parents were. They found here that which they sought and they have prospered, and when they have prospered, and when they fully understand the dangers which confront us they will be as true to real American principles in the future as they have been in the past.

Danger in Class Government

Danger in Class Government "Class government is our great danger today. That is always a menace, but it is greater than ever now, because there are many who have fought special interests in the past who are fighting for special interests now. For more than 20 years I have been fighting the control of government by organized wealth, and I shall continue to do so. But many who fought with men then are fighting for special interests now. This government of ours cannot long endure if it is to be controlled by any class of our people for their own special interests. And here is a good test to make of a public official whether he is a demagogue or not.

Dave We Fight? "It is easy for us to fight organized wealth or any other organiza-tion that does not command a large number of votes, but are we willing number of votes, but are we willing to stand up and fight an organization that is against the public interest in it does command a substantial num-ter of votes? If we are not, then we may boast as loudly as we will o ber of votes? If we are not, then we may boast as loudly as we will of our love of the people but we are nothing but political profiteers, counting upon the indifference of the organized masses and gathering to curseives the support of organizations that menade a government of, by and for all the people.

When Contempt is Deserved
"A public official who will sacrifice the public interest to gain any class."

support should have the contempt of all good citizens. I believe in organization, in labor organization, in farmers' organizations, and other organizations. It is the duly of the government to protect them in all their legitimate aims; but they are entitled only to justice and a square deal. They are no more entitled to special privilege at the expense of their fellows than is organized wealth.

The Plumb Plan

"The Plumb Plan

wealth. The Plumb Plan

"The Plumb plan of railway control is an illustration of what I have in mind—a plan that would mean, it fully carried out, the destruction of all our American institutions and put us on the same busis as soviet Russia. They propose that he people buy the railroads, pay for them, and then turn them over to the railroad employes without any rental charge except that of profits, and with the right to fix their own wages. So of course there would be no profits.

charge except that of fix their own with the right to fix their own wages. So of course there would be no profits. The Farmer Comes In Where the Farmer Comes In 'Farmers are being asked to endorse this plan and support candidates for office who are committed to it. Farmers may dig up their $18 apiece for the privilege of belonging to a political organization which will raise their taxes but I do not believe that even many of them will in addition support the Plumb nlam, which would still further increase freight and passenger rates:

"Speaking of railroads, I wish to briefly refer to the Esch-Cummins railroad law. There is more mistrapresentation of this law than of any legislation I have known say thing about, and much of it is due to those who are wilfully and deliberately lying about it. Some call it an 'infamous law'.

"Bome say it was drafted in Wall street and that it guaranteed profits'

The Esch-Cummins Law
"Some say it was drafted in Wall street and that it guaranteed profits of 5 per cent. There is no such guaranty. There are only two guarantees in the law and they both expire September 1. One is that the wages of railroad employes shall not be reduced prior to September 1, and the other is that the income shall not be less than that realized under federal operation up to September 1. the other is that the income shall not be less than that realized under federal operation up to September 1. But after the first of Seplember, only five weeks from now, there will be no guaranty of any kind in the law. It is provided that the interstate commerce commission shall permit trates that will pay a return of 5½, or in the discretion of the commission, 6 per cent upon the actual value of the property. But if the kallroads do not make the 5½ or 6 percent, not penny is paid by the government to make up the difference.

Where the Government Profits "On the other hand, if they make more than 6 per cent they must pay over to the government one-half the excess in addition to all other taxes. Hes anyone told you that? Then the law provides that hereafter no railty with the approval of, the interstate of more reasonable of the interstate with the approval of, the interstate that stock-watering is a thing of the mast. The fact is that this is the most progressive railroad legislation.

I wasn't. I was only wondering what he would say and how he would laugh when he found out that I was only playing for time.

Being somewhat intelligent, what though ignorant about some things I very wisely resolved to draw Mr. Dean out rather than he exposed myself, so after another moment of rest I cleared my thront, in a most professional manner, and asked him in a whisper, it seemed to me, what he had been in the habit of paying his former artists for work he was asking me to do. Now I leave it to both friend and foe—wasn't that clever, some?

I'll say it was, because it got an answer from the old man, and he could not have gotten an intelligent

ANOTHER STEP UP ON FAME'S LADDER FOR LINDSISY I have had some more good tick. Even more soil-stirring this time than selling the cover, if that were possible. Fired by my success, and by some more of Prince Charming's words the other day, I walked myself down to Park Row, unbeknown to anyone, and into the office of a newspaper callior, plus some of my work and an idea for a series of sketches to be run every evening if approved of. I do hope that it is not my personality alone that helps me to put over things, for that would take away all the joy from me, but that stand old cditor was just carried away with my idea and seemed awfully interested in me. Impecially when I mentioned having recently sold a cover to a magazine. Wo had a long talk; an involved one, mostly about business, and what I would consider a fab price per week or turning out a drawing a day for the Evening Loader. How everybody would have loughed if they could have seen my blank expression when this forceful question was put to me! I who have never done any business in thy Ilfe. I fell my checks turning very red and my linear rather dry, so that I could not give Mr. Dean an answer immediately, which, by the way, saved the day, for he thought that I was turning the proposition, ever in my mind. I wasn't. I was only wouldering what he would, say and how he Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

DUNWIDDIE MAKES BRIEF REPLY TO BADGER'S CHARGE

"I have no special statement to make." District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie said today when asked regarding charges made against him at the council meeting Monday night by Ald. Edwin Badger of the First ward. "I might say though for information of those who do not know that the issuing of all warrants is entirely up to the judge—not me." In regard to the Ludden case he said Chief Morrissy did not ask him for the search-warrant until the atternoon Sheriff Beley was in the country recovering the stolen car. "I had told the chief to go to the judge for a warrant a few minutes before I learned that the sheriff had recovered the car," he explained. "Then I called the city hall and told them there, seemed to be no need for the search-warrant." "Then I called the city half and told them there, seemed to be no need for the search-warrant."

Sheriff Deley today discouraged the report that politics entered into the performance of his duties.

EDGERTON AND THE EDGERTON ROAD.

The people of Edgerton have reason to complain bitterly of the dereliction on the part of the highway office in not hastening, the construction of the road from Janesville to their city. It has made it hard for Janesville traffic to get through. The necessity of a detour either by way of Milton avenue or by Washington street and the Madison road with a turn back to get to the direct road to Edgerton has existed since early in April. There has been time enough wasted to build a cement road the whole distance planned. Between Edgerton and Janesville the traffic by automobiles and truck constantly is heavy. It is of some importance-almost as much that the road be built as it is to fiddle-faddle around with some scheme to lay cement differently from others. People will go to Edgerton because they want to go there They will drive to Janesville for the same reason, to get to Janesville. But they are entitled to the most direct route-their road and that quickly and without hardship. Some complaint has come to the Gazette that the publicity of the road condition might injure the travel through that city by deflecting it. We do not think so. What we need is to work in concert and see that the road is finished before November if there is any possible way of doing so

SENATOR IRVINE L. LENROOT.

United States Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, guest of Janesville today, is a big man. Not large physically, although he measures to the ordinary stature of a man, but big in his grasp of public affairs and big in his work in constructive legislation. He had a long and notable career in the house of representatives and has been the main stay of the state in the senate since his election in 1918. Through him Wisconsin has had expression of her opinions and thought. In his campaign for reelection he has gone at the vital questions, gloveless and with no uncertainty. His is the clean Americanism. That is the only "ism" he has in his vocabulary. He makes no compromise with the enemies of the republic. He fosters no new medicines for the curing of ills, real or fancied. There is nothing of the mountebank about him. He stands on the national declaration of republican principles boldly and without question.

But he comes to Janesville today not as a campaigner, not as a candidate asking support of the people, but as the senator representing the state in the upper house, of congress of the United States. Senator Lenroot stands between the people of the state of Wisconsin and the nonpartisan league program. Owing to our peculiar primary law which makes it possible for persons who have repudiated the republican party or who have never been members of it to attempt dictation of nominations, that issue is drawn within the republican party itself and must be fought out there and not at the general election where it properly belongs. It will be and Wisconsin can hardly fail to register itself aright this year, for Learoot.

The people of Janesville and vicinity, who have taken a holiday, as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce, are glad to be able to honor their distinguished senator today.

THE LIBERTY LOAN DISCOUNT.

In creating and emphasizing the issue of making Liberty bonds with their face to the investors, Senator Harding has forced attention to a subject that has been dodged repeatedly by the administration. It is an issue. The people have the loss of $2,000,000,000 as a legacy and daily reminder of the falsity of the administration statements. One of the leading democratic papers, the New York Times, a few days before the acceptance speech of Senator Harding, printed the following in reference to Liberty bonds:

The Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange sends to Secretary Houston a temperate and well-reasoned statement why Liberty bonds should be treated more liberally by the banks. The arguments by the Four-Minute speakers that the loans would always be "good" were better understood have to go to a church to practice in a hall often would always be "good" were better understood have to go to a church to practice in a hall often by some than others, and it is the others who need encouragement in their disappointment that the bonds are not worth every day the same number of dollars that were paid for them. The dollars musicians. or dollars that were paid for them. The dollars have lost in purchasing power more than the bonds themselves, but nobody thinks that the owners of dollars ought to be protected. A fall in the value of money is seen by all to be one of the economic risks in price movements for which no protection nas yet been found.

Still the case is stronger in the case of the bonds than of the dollars. "Borrow and buy" was the urgent counsel of war times, and the coupon rate was allowed freely by all banks. The banks would have had to take the bonds if they had not induced their customers to do so. Now the banks induced their customers to do so. Now the banks charge so much more than the coupons rate on such loans that many are driven into taking a loss. They would gladly carry their bonds longer if the banks charged nearer the coupon rate, and there is a strong case for such accommodation to those who were original subscribers and still hold their bonds. Others, who bought in open market think-ing to make a profit where others made a loss, might be left to pay the market rate. In order not to allow the borrowing privilege to be abused, it might be provided that borrowers below the Harding seems to have hit home and hard on this market rate should amortize their loans, paying issue. off some appreciable part as their ability allows All such reductions of loans on Liberty bonds would relieve commercial borrowers by releasing the resources of the banks making the loans. There is no better way than this to promote the absorption of the war loans by those who mean to hold them at all times, with no more reliance upon them for necessities than upon their savings which has long existed to fill in breathing spells in veddings, funerals, and sermons, has at last come nto real popularity. No longer is it associated only with areary Bach fugues, and solemn accompaniments to the clatter of the collection plate. The king of instruments has, after a thouplace. The king of stately existence, taken on a sand odd years of stately existence, taken on a livelier air, for all the world like a gray haired bachelor scientist who suddenly learns to flirt.

The Rise of the Organ

Washington, D. C., July 28.—The pipe organ,

The movies are, as everybody knows, responsible for the organ's new mood. What is not so generally known is that a remarkable interest in organ study is being manifested, and schools teach organ playing expressly for the theater have sprung into existence.

More pipe organs are being built, too, though the cost of pipes is about 75 per cent higher than before the big organ boom. The owners of moving picture palaces do not seem to mind this. Five of six thousand dollars for an electric action, eighty stop, guaranteed-not-to-break-down-often organ is a good investment, if only for the fact that it gives the theater publicity agent something ew to write about.

Thus, when the theater owner decides to instal Thus, when the theater owner decides to install the biggest and most expensive organ in America.—or in the state, or town—there is material for a hot news item. When the instrument is set up it is good for more snappy description and instructive statistics. Then the theater engages a genius who wears a twelve shoe and can hit more pedals at a time than any other organist in the country. And so it goes. The thealer gets pub-icity, the patrons get the music, and the organ gets out of repair with a frequency that would discourage anyone but a movie magnate.

Church organs are usually visited once a month by a repair man, to keep them in playing order, but the theater instrument has to be looked over once a week, and the repairer is called in from one to three times a week besides to take care of unexpected casualties. This is all a part of the upkeep of the theater, and one of the numerous actors which help to boose the price of a movie

The theater organ does not suffer from being it a damp and unheated hall six days in the week as a church organ so often does, but it is worked nard, so that its parts wear out faster. Witha ts lifetime at hard labor is estimated at twenty ive years. By that time, the theater magnate figure, the vogue of the organ may give place to a leaning toward the accordion or the xylophone.

And speaking of xylophones, the theater organ has special attachments which the conservative church instrument never dreamed of. The organ is an imitator. A lengthy pipe of wood gives an entirely different character of tone from a simila pipe of the or lead, and a short, thick pipe gives a still different variation, so that from the pipes organ gets not only its different notes, but also he different tones, resembling the oboe, flute, vioin, and other instruments. an orchestra, the violin has been the most difficult to reproduce on an organ, and it is one of the more recent tones represented on the stops. The xylophone stop, of which we started to speak, is a new and strictly theatrical attachment, as ar stops giving the effect of drums, bells and other accessories of an orchestra. With all these devices, the movie organ is an orchestra in itself, and some instruments are provided for extra emergencies by stops representing wind, rain, and

To musicians the interesting thing about the organ's plunge into seculiar affairs is the revolu-tion in the theory of organ music. It has always been held that the organ could be played only in been held that the organic culting marches, symptonics, Here Comes the Bride, and an occa sional minuet made up the repertoire of the church or concert organist.

Now the theater organ rolls out anything from Hawalian love songs to jazz as a means of intensifying emotions portrayed by screen action. A few effects called for by orchestra scores are prac tically impossible to obtain. Such an effect is the violin tremolo. But the skilled organist manages to master almost any score set before him, though it is said that three-fourths of the music he uses s written for plano and has to be arranged by the player for organ rendition.

The organ is preferred to the piano as an accompaniment for the silent drama because it is capable of a much wider gamut of tones. Then it is more easily subdued into a harmonious according to the subdued into a subdued into a harmonious according to the subdued into a harmonious according to the subdued into a s companiment to the picture, and the deep; steady tone is more restful than the shrill babble of the plane heard in so many of the small theaters.

Music for the movies is an important matter nowadays. We have advanced beyond the stage where a caller's ringing of a doorbell in the picture had to be interpreted for the audience by a real belt manipulated by the snare drummer.

Nor is it thought good taste any longer to play facetiously a few bars from "Good Night Ladies when the harsh father of the heroine orders the butler to remove the poor and therefore unworthy Romeo. Instead the up-to-date organist shifts a few slops and drifts into something sweet and sad, and your sympathy for the misused hero remains intact.

Mostly, the musicians are provided with a regu-Mosily, the musicians are provided with a regular program of music suggested by the company producing the feature. This sheet indicates that the "Spring Song" would be appropriate for the first two minutes of the story, down to the substitute, "Henry finds the skeleton key in the closet," when it is proper to change to "The Cave of the Mountain King," and so on throughout the picture. The expert organist tackles anything and with results that must give Bach and Handel a lot to talk about if they are still in touch with organ affairs. The organ in their time was regarded reverently, though it was far from being the formidable giant that it is at present.

Any organist can tell you of the struggles he had when he was studying. Few students have access to an organ in a private home, and so they

But now conditions are changing. A skilled organist has as good a chance of rising in the financial scale as a plumber or a carpenter. He joins the musicians' union, concluding that it is better to be an affluent laborer than a starved

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

The truth of the matter seems to be that Sen-ator La Follette has become embittered, warped and disgruntled by successive rebuffs of his own pet plans and projects, until he has reached a stage of pessimism that leads him to believe that everything about the government is wrong and cluotic, and that he is the chosen one to bring, about a state of reformation and good order. He chrotic, and that he is the chosen one to bring, about a state of reformation and good order. He therefore venomously attacks the rold, parties and by grossly exaggerating their faults he endeavors to make the people believe they are entirely corrupt, boss-ridden and unworthy of confidence. Of course he is wrong, and his spiteful accusations and gloomy predictions are as unfounded as they are uncalled for. But this is the La Follette way of playing the game of politics, and it discloses the weakest point of the senator's own personality—his inability to get along with other leaders and to engage in real team work for the improvement of worth-while reforms. This unfortunate traft can lead only to disaster, morcover, for the people never will tolerate a leader who insists on being the whole thing, or else will kick over the traces.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

, RESOLUTE'S DAY OF RACING OVER

New York, July 28—Resolute, which decisively defeated Shamrock IV, in the deciding yacht race in defense of the America's cup yesterday, probably will not run another race, said H. D. B. Parsons, a member of the race committee, of the New York Yacht club, today. The defender, which cost thousands of dollars, will be taken to a shipyard at City Island today and then proceed to Bristol, It. I., where she will be dismantled at the Herreshoff yards. Part of her fittings will be stored at City Island.

There will be no special celebration of the victory by the New York Yacht club, Yacht men today highly praised the handling of the Resolute by Charles Francis Adams, 11, Irrall the races off Sandy Hook. His generalship in the fluky winds was declared to be faultiess.

The Resolute's crew of 22 Norwegians, seven Swedes and one Danc—all American citizens—also came in for unstinted praise. Captain Christ Christenson, the sailing master, won the last yacht race against the Shamrock Iff, in 1903.

Sir Thomas Lipton who did hid his bitter disappointment behind his cordial congratulations to the Resolute and her crew, saying that the better boat won, will soon leave for a visit to Canada. He will issue another challenge in 1922 and will mame the challenger Shamrock V, he said.

The bis green sloop probably will be towed up the Hudson within a few days and anchored, to allow visitors a chance to inspect her.

BRONCHO QUEEN

Aurora, Ill., July 28.—Chloago horses won two of the three events on the opening day's program of the Aurora races yesterday. Summer Song, owned by L. E. Randall, took the 2:24 trot in straight heats, and Broncho Queen, owned by J. Mc-Manus, the 2:25 pace in five heats. Starved Rock, also owned by L. E. Randall, and a heavily played favorite, was second in the 2:27 pace won by the Comet. The races were the best of the year and the crowd the biggest on any opening day in the history of the Aurora track.

Eroncho Queen was trained in the Spencer stables at Janesville.

BLACKLIST STALEYS OF CHICAGO LEAGUE

The A. E. Staleys of Decatur, III., of the Chicago Baseball league, have, been blacklisted and no team of the circuit will be permitted officially to play against them. The reason given is that Billy Niesen of the CMcago Pyotts filed a complaint against the treatment he and his crew received at Decatur last Sunday. The Juads of the Chicago league met in session and not only uplied Niesen, but made the ruling against the Staleys.

"This means," it is reported, "that no team in the Chicago league wall be allowed to play the Staleys."

If this is followed out, it will include the Samsons in the decision of team not permitted to play.

The Staleys are one of the best teams in the which.

Beloit Fairtes will not bother with the decision, but will hold to their schedule to play the Himois team at Decatur next week-end.

SIRUCK BY TRAIN,
NO ONE IS INJURED

So Brodhead, July 28.—An automobile carrying E. N. Haugen, his daughter, Mrs. Wagley, and two sons, Oriordville, was struck by the doclock cast bound passenger train at the Thomas street crossing Monday afterndon. They all escaped without a scratch. Outside of a smashed running board and a slight bending of the frame, the car was in fairly good condition. The fact that the train on the New Glarus branch had just pulled in and the train from the west had slack up, probably saved the lives of the occupants of the auto, as the driver had "killed" his motor on the railway track.

Every U. S. Tire is just like every other in quality -the best its builders know how to build.
